THRIFT.-Richard McHunny, an enterprising colored man, has been enabled, through the kindness of friends, to re-establish himself at his old stand, Hasel-street, where he has rebuilt the stables destroyed by fire. He is an industrious and worthy man, and deserves pa-

THE MONUMENTAL FAIR .- There was a great accession to the number of visitors at the Fair last night, and the tables rich in an innumerable variety of supplementals that were to be seen on the two past evenings. As fast as the articles are raffled they are replaced by seemingly better ones. The tables generally are really worth especial observation; look well at the beautiful pieces of woman's handiwork: see what the pains-taking labor of man has contributed, all so tastily and prominently arranged, so that they can come within the range of the eye at a glance.

The Juvenile table, on the north side of the hall, with its abundance of small wares to please the young folk, is not the least interesting feature of the entertainment.

The balloting for the Firemen's Prize is getting intensely exciting, and each company is beginning to show its strength and come up in phalanxes. The ladies, too, are interested in their favorites, and are as earnest in their soft entreaties as woman can be. The contest is a sharp one, and seems to be the source of some excitement in the Department.

Finely lithographed rolls of the dead of the association are sold for one dollar, and will no doubt be sought after by many as precious mementoes of the checkered past.

The moving mass, the soft music, the particolored grabs swung to and fro, the rich canopies of the tables, the banner aloft, the festoons of evergreens, make up a picturesque whole, and a brief list of charming attractions that culminate in Hibernian Hall.

The prize punch bowl won by the Palmetto Fire Company, will be sent to the Fair for the inspection of the firemen.

The following is a list of prizes won last evening : W. W. Trenholm, one regatta club; Christzberg, old woman and shoe; H. B. awelry; Miss C W Fitch, ladies' toilet and fixtures; C. C. Chase, oil panning; oirs. Martha H. Locke, fruit cake; W. A. Whaley, one set jewelry; E. F. Sweegan, one fruit cake ; L. C. Boylston, infant's chair ; B. M. CHARLESTON BOARD OF TRADE.—The regular monthly meeting took place on Tuesday evening, at Hibernian Hall, President H. Cobia in the chair.

Mr. E. E. Bedford was elected a member. Colonel W. L. Trenholm, chairman, read the following report, which was adopted: The Executive Committee have the honor to report—

First. That they have arranged for the use of the Hiberman Hall for meeting of the Board and Executive Committee.

Second. That after due consideration, they find the resolution recommending the abolition of the charge for rice tierces in accordance with interests of the trade in that article, and are of opinion that the resolution ought to be adopted.

W. S. Hastie, Eeq., read the following report, which was adopted:

which was adopted:

The Committee appointed to confer with the Governor of the State and Health Officer, with regard to carrying out the quarantine law, in the absence of the proper appropriation by the Legislature, respectfully report:

That the Governor has assured your committee that he will furnish all the funds necessary to keep up an efficient quarantine for the City of Charleston. The committee would also report that the State has taken the entire control of the quarantine establishments, and has relieved the city from all responsibility.

SECOND DAY.

A Grand People's Festival.

All hail to ye, jolly German. If any one believes he don't know how to distill comfort from any surroundings, be they what they may; if any one imagines that when the Teuton rubs the Aladdin lamp of pleasure, he cannot produce any amount of illusion, which for the time satisfies and allures, let him visit the Schuetzenplatz, and have all doubts removed. On this broad globe, f. om the candle-eating Nova Zemblans to Botany Bay, there is not a nation to be found who combine the hard, industrious business of life with its O dolce concento more happily, more appropriately, or more refreshingly than the German people. Home-like and homogeneous in taste and association, they rally together and are knit as with hooks of steel. In every community influences radiate from their comminglings which give it character and strength, and they in turn create for themselves a reputation for sense and solidity which younger nations have in vain striven to emulate.

Americans and Englishmen enjoy their horse races, yacht clubs and ball matches. These are for men and muscle. The German, on the other hand, domesticates his amusements and make them such as his frau and kinden can enjoy and embalm in memory. Wife and children are his companions in pleasure, and so to speak, sanctify its innocence.

Such is the character of the enjoyments at the present Schuetzenfest. Those who desire to test the accuracy of eye and rifle may spend hours in shooting at targets, and hoping for a prize; while the mere "looker on in Vienna" cannot fail to be amused by a programme of entertainment that will touch every muscle in his entity from the zygomaticus major to the remotest connections of his diaphragm.

Do you want to laugh? Look at the row of microscopic humanity awaiting their turn to take a five cent piece out of a bowl of molasses. The little round faces come up out of the cavernous depths polished like the rosewood balls with which you knock down tenpins, and dash through the crowd with blinded eyes for the nearest pump.

Look at innocent youths, who think they can perform gymnastics on a roller that trips them into a huge bag of charcoal on one side or flour on the other.

Look at infantile specimens who, for a proffered prize, attempt to eat a saucer of brown sugar in the shortest given space of time, and watch the distortions that a tend the process of deglutation. Note the industry with which that modern ragamuffin "shinnys" up the greased pole, striving with all the ambition of a young American to reach the top were hangs his reward in shape of fiddle or watch, moving, however, not unlike a pig on ice.

Observe those bareheaded little urchins tied up in a sack, with nothing but their heads visible, jumping spasmodically after each other like so many animated Egyptian mummies.

Go into the ball room and enjoy a dance while Muller pipes German music into German 'pedestals,' which pirouette without regard to outh or age. The ruddy faces of healthy and peautiful women will beam on you, and sturdy fellows, whose Teutonic avoirdupois kick the scales at two hundred and fifty, will invite you down stairs to zwei lager and sweitzer kase. It's fun-honest, innocent enjoyment, such as Americans know not now to create, but amply appreciate and covet. To detail every style of amusement spread upon the programme, would fill a page. But we venture to say that no one who has visited the Schuetzenplatz, or who may do so to-day, will not, besides enjoying an inhabitation or pute country air, feel that be has devoted himself to a few hours of innocent recreation calculated to infuse fresh vigor into his frame, and renew his strength for the more solid toils of life. As we have said, the Schuetzenfest is a grand

German festival, but this year it is something , steeple cake; J. R. Read, one tidy; J. G. | more. The aim of the managers has been to make it a "Volkfest," a "People's Festival," and in this they have this year succeeded. Adversity has caused us to know each other better than before. We have learned to meet without jarring when the opportunity is given jewelry; John Lafar, gold ring; Miss Duffus, as it was yesterday. Teuton, Hibernian, Englishman and American join hands under the banner of pleasure and become firm, fast friends in the bond of innocent enjoyment. Nor were the ladies wanting. They made the Platz bright with their presence. All Charleston was there, and who could say more.

One of the incidents yesterday was the balloon ascension. This machine would not be kept down. Like the head of a Schuetzen it would rise and it bounded away over the trees, before the riflemen in charge were altogether ready. Better luck next time.

The velocipede race was also a novel sight. There were two races, one for the fastest velocipedian and the other for the slowest. The fast prize—an inlaid inkstand—was won by Mr. W. S. Henerey, Jr. The slow prize-six bottles of cologne-was won by Mr. John A. Moroso. The riding was excellent.

During the day the pip-papping at the eagle and the various targets went on without intermission. Mr. Torck, of East Bay, who is one of the best marksmen in town, shot away the left leg of the eagle, winning a prize. The famous bird had been plated with boiler iron, but this was riddled like a sieve, and it is hoped that the two wings, tail and body will be taken off the bush to-day. The general shooting was good. Mr. Clusius, one of the New York Schuetzen, made forty-four centre hits-seven on Wednesday and thirty-seven yesterday. This, we believe, is the highest point made. One of the Charleston Schuetzen made thirtyone centres.

To day special prizes will be put up for the passive numbers and the general public. Six prizes at least will be shot for in this manner. Another feature yesterday was the singing by the Sangerbund and Germania Society. Their voices, blending in the rich harmonies of German music, floated bewitchingly on the air and attracted a crowd of listeners. It is proper here to say that the officers of selves indefatigably to make the Fest a success. They have been worked nearly to death, and have had no time to amuse themselves; but they have secured the pleasure of their countrymen and friends, and have given us a festival the like of which Charleston had never seen. Let their names be recorded here. The officers are : President, Alexander Melchers; Vice-President, J. D. Lesemann; Treasurer, J. H. Petermann; Secretary, C. H. Bergmann; Directors : F. Puckhaber, P. C. Schroeder, H. Klatte, H. Bensen and Geo. Logemann; these form the executive or "Vorstand" of the society. The Committee of Arrangements-the assiduous and indefatigable—are: Mesars. A. Niemann, J. C. H. Claussen, F. von Santen, F. Wehmann, F. Waltjen, F. Ansell, G. Lindstedt and J. Rugheimer. The Committee of Amusements—and well they do their work are: Professors A. J. Hoffmann, L. Deden and To-day, of course, will be the grandest day of all. The king will be crowned, the prizes will be distributed, and after sundown there will be a balloon ascension, an illumination with Chirese lanterns, and an elaborate display

MEMORIAL DAY .- The Ladies' Memorial As sociation met yesterday afternoon at the Home. in Broad-street, and conferred with a committee of the Survivors' Association about the celebration of Memorial Day. The programme has been arranged, and will probably be published to-morrow.

THE MASS MEETING which was to have been held at White Point Garden last evening, to be addressed by Mr. Z. McDonald, agent of the Louisiana Labor Association, and others, did not take place, in consequence of some of the prominent speakers, who promised to be present, not appearing. be chief of the Fire Department. The First Brigade of Regulars.

This brigade was composed of the best fighting material in the Confederate army. It served gallantly in the siege of Charleston, enduring aff the bardships of Sumter and Wagner, and won new laurels at Bentonville and Averysboro', N. C., where both regiments were decimated. Since the war the command has been scattered over Dixie, and if the long roll were now sounded responses could be heard from the Potomac to the Rio Grande. The absent officers and men will be pleased to learn of the effort being made to erect a monument over their honored dead, and will gladly assist their former comrades in this good cause. We give below the result of a preliminary meeting held in this city.

nary meeting held in this city

A meeting of the surviving officers, in Charleston, of the South Carolina Brigade of Regulars, consisting of the First South Carolina Artillery, First South Carolina Infantry and Lucas' Battalion, was held in this city on the 28th April, 1869, for the purpose of organizing an association, and in order to raise funds sufficient to erect a suitable monument to their deceased officers and men.

sufficient to creet a suitable monument to their deceased officers and men.

There were present at the meeting, Colonel Alfred Rhett, Lieutenant-Colonel Joseph A. Yates, Captain Julius M. Rhett, Captain Charles Inglesby, Captain Edward Lowndes, Captain William H. Peronneau, Captain J Gadsden King, Captain Mitchell King, Captain E. B. Calhoun, Lieutenant Henry W. Frost, Lieutenant John A. Keith, Lieutenant John Harleston, Lieutenant John C. Minott, Lieutenant W. G. Ogier, Lieutenant E. S. Fickling, Lieutenant H. W. Gesussure, Jr., Lieutenant E. C. Edgerton, Lieutenant E. W. Macbeth.

On motion of Lieutenant John C. Minott, Colonel Alfred Rhett was called to the chair, and Captain Charles Inglesby requested to act as secretary.

Colonel Rhett stated that the chiest of the s secretary.

Colonel Bhett stated that the object of the meeting was to erect a suitable monument in ade, who had fallen in the late struggle for Southern independence.

Lieutenant-Colonel Joseph A. Yates suggested that a large number of the officers of the brigade who did not reside in Charleston would, doubtless, have united cordially in the movement had they been notified of the meeting. He therefore offered the following resolution, which was unanimously adopted. Intion, which was unanimously adopted.

Resolved, That a full meeting of the officers of the Brigade, be called for Tuesday, the first of June next, at 8 o'clock, P. M., at No. 21 Broad-street, and that the Secretary give notice through the papers of said meeting.

Upon motion of Lieut. John C. Minott, it was Resolved. That the chair appoint a committee.

Upon motion of Lieut. John C. Minott, it was Resolved. That the chair appoint a committee of three, to draw resolutions and prepare business for the meeting in June.

The chair appointed Lieut. John C. Minott, Captain Charles Inglesby, and Lieut. W. G. Ogier as that committee.

There being no further business, the meeting adjourned.
